

several vital strands in his work, writes Robert McCrum. Images for Graham Greene: A Descriptive Catalogue The Descriptive Catalogue of 1809 is a description of, and prospectus for, an exhibition by William Blake of a number of his own illustrations for various topics, .